

Governing Bylaw		Land Use Bylaw (C23-20)		Key Points
Bylaw Section		11.18 DC(A)-15 Direct Control – Urban Character Mixed Single Detached Residential Districts		Unlike conventional land use districts whereby the Development Authority (DA) may grant variances, a Direct Control district requires the DA to adhere to Council’s directions, expressed as development regulations. Thus, the DA does not have the authority to vary conditions of development.
Purpose s. 11.18.1		To accommodate two types of built forms on opposing sides of the street. To optimize available on-street parking. Key attributes of this district include single detached housing on narrow lots with a side yard setback of 0.0 meters on one side, restrictions on driveway design, and architectural controls to ensure a high-quality and attractive streetscape throughout the district.		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The DA uses the purpose section to interpret regulations and, where permitted, to apply discretion to conditions of development. • The DA carries out the directions of Council by interpreting and applying architectural and urban design standards. • An easement will be registered on the land title defining conditions of development or use.

DC(A)-15: Direct Control - Urban Character Mixed Single Detached Residential Districts. City of Fort Saskatchewan Fact Sheet

Definitions:

Accessory Development means a building, structure or use that is subordinate to, incidental to and located on the same site as the principal building or use. A structure that is attached to a principal building on a site by a roof, an open or enclosed structure, a floor or foundation, or any structure below grade allowing access between the building and the accessory development shall be considered part of the principal building. This use may include, but is not limited to sheds, detached garages, gazebos, private play structures, pergolas, and decorative ponds.

Building massing; means the overall configuration of the building; the way a building is arranged on its site.

Colour Elevation – a drawing or rendering of the home showing the design and final finishes for the property. The design, colours, materials and textures enable the Development Authority to approve new construction of a diverse architectural nature.

Easement means a documented and registered interest on private or public land, held by a person, government agency or public utility company, which entitles the holder to specific limited use of the land.

Façade means the exterior outward face of a building. Typically, the facade of interest is that surface that serves as the front of that building and faces the primary public roadway, buildings on the corner of two public roadways present two public facades.

Principal Building or Use means a building or use that, in the opinion of the Development Authority: (a) Occupies the major or central portion of the site; (b) Is the chief or main building or use among one or more buildings or uses on a site; and (c) Constitutes, by reason of its use, the primary purpose for which the site is used. There shall be no more than one principal building or use on each site, unless otherwise permitted in this Bylaw.

Setback means the distance that a development shall be set back from a lot line or any other features on a site as specified by this Bylaw. A setback is not a yard. A setback measurement shall be taken from the building foundation.

Site, Corner (Corner Site): means a site located at the intersection of two public roadways, other than a lane.

Site, Interior (Interior Site): means a site that is bounded by only one public roadway, or by one public roadway and a lane.
